VOL 28 | BLOOMSBURG, PA., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1893. | NO 47

THE TOWN GOVERNMENT.

If the conclusion is correct, then the question confronts us all—who shall be Chief Burgess, and who shall be the councilmen?

It is certainly in order to say that Bloomsburg requires an efficient municipal government. The population is increasing rapidly. In all directions you see streets being opened and graded, and the side walks laid with stone or other substantial material. You see old houses repaired and modernized, and you see on all sides new houses, mostly of brick, being erected—Billy Ferguson, as he is familiarly called, has had a very busy summer of it, and the end is not yet. Citizens who do not somewhat frequently patrol the town are more surprised than strangers at the certain signs of prosperity.

The various industries have not been checked for a moment. The hum and whir and noise have been increasing. From the five o'clock whistle at Neal's furnace to the seven o'clock one at the machine shops of Harman & Hassert, about every fifteen minutes either the woolen mill or the silk mill or the desk factory or the furniture company, or the worsted mill, or the washing machine plant, or brass and copper works, or some of the various busy shops, calls the workman to his labor; and presently after, the silver tone of the Normal School bell flings the sound waves over the valley calling hundreds of girls and boys to their studies and preparation for an independent life.

All these exist at present, but others are coming, and between the canal and the river new industries are being located, and silent Irondale is showing signs of rejuvenation.

In preparation for this large increase of population, the Fair grounds have been enlarged, the gas and electric light plants are increasing their facilities, the public steam plant has put in additional boilers, and the water company is constructing an additional reservoir, and laying twelve-inch mains.

This enumeration shows partially, what has come and is coming, and it fully justifies the remark that the government of the town in all its branches, is of great and growing importance We are all interested. The property owner and the wage earner equally need a good, strong, safe, economical administration; but one which at the same time will push improvements, and keep up the pace that has soundly and certainly given us the lead of all the towns on both branches of the Susquehanna.

To stand still is to recede. Let us give each other the helping hand, the encouraging word, the stimulating God speed. Let us continue to welcome the coming, and there will be no parting guest. Let us welcome them to our homes, our churches, our schools, and make them part of the permanent population of the Town of Bloomsburg.

QUERIST.

A CANTATA.

The grand dramatic cantata of Jephtha and his Daughter, will be given in the Opera House on Monday and Tuesday evenings, November 20–21, by 50 ladies, gentlemen and children in splendid costume and brilliant stage scenery, under the auspices of the M. E. church choir, Mr. J. E. Kane, manager. This cantata surpasses all similar productions in popular music, unrivaled scenic effects, varied and beautiful costumes, elaborate stage settings, highly dramatic situations and splendid transformation scenes. For further description see programmes. The press speaks in glowing terms of the splendor of this entertainment. The sale of tickets will commence on Wednesday, Nov. 15, at Dentler's.

A GOOD DINNER.

As one of the coming very enjoyable events we call the attention of our readers to the Church Dinner which the ladies of St. Paul's will serve in the spacious entertainment room at the Parish House on the 11th inst. Saturday, from 5 to 9 o'clock p. m. Those of you who have partaken of one of these famous dinners will undoubtedly come, but the ladies request you to be unselfish and tell your friends and neighbors and bring them along. The tickets will be but 50 cts each; any one not satisfied after they have been served will be furnished with another ticket at same price for a future dinner when they can try it again. Remember the date, Saturday, Nov. 11 from 5 to 9 p. m.

Princeton beat the University of Pennsylvania at foot ball last Saturday in Philadelphia by a score of 4 to 0. It was a hard fought battle. Princeton and Yale will play in New York on Thanksgiving day.

TUSTIN--FERGUSON.

A very pretty wedding was performed in the Methodist Episcopal church on Thursday morning, which made Edward B. Tustin, cashier of First National Bank, and Miss Helen E., daughter of Rev. W. G. Ferguson, man and wife. At nine o'clock the church was well filled with invited guests, who were admitted by card. The pulpit was beautifully decorated with flowers and ferns. The wedding party entered the church in the following order: The ushers, Messrs. J. Lee Harman and Robert E. Hartman of Bloomsburg; Max L. Mitchell of Williamsport and H. S. Hollenback of Mt. Carmel, the bridegroom and his best man, his brother, Paul Tustin, proceeded up the right hand aisle, while the bridesmaids, Miss Kramer of Lock Haven, Miss Wilson of Williamsport, Miss Ruth Tustin and Miss Jessie Ferguson, the bride on the arm of Rev. Dr. E. J. Gray, President of Dickinson Seminary, Williamsport, came up the left hand aisle. A quartette consisting of Miss Hattie Peacock, Mrs. Robert Vanderslice, A. N. Yost and Frank Eyer, sang the bridal march from Lohengrin as the procession entered. At the altar rail the bride and bridegroom were met by Rev. W. G. Ferguson, father of the bride, who read the beautiful service as set forth in the ritual of the M. E. church, and the two were pronounced one. Mrs. Fred Holmes presided at the organ, and played the Mendelssohn wedding march as the bridal party retired from the church. The bride wore a dress of light blue figured silk, trimmed with lace, and carried roses. The bridesmaids wore gowns of white silk trimmed with lace.

At 9.30 a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, the M. E. Parsonage, and an elegant wedding breakfast was served. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and costly gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Tustin left at 10.49 on an extended tour. May joy and prosperity attend them.

Bloomsburg Normal School.

ALUMNI MEETING AND BANQUET—NEARLY TWO HUNDRED FORMER GRADUATES PRESENT.

One of the most pleasant meetings of the Luzerne County branch of the alumni of the State Normal School at Bloomsburg, was held last night in Y. M. H. A. Hall. The guests began to assemble about 5 p. m., in the reception room, and for about two hours engaged in conversation and merriment. Then followed in sumptuous repast.

District attorney Garman, of the early graduates of the school, acted as toastmaster. After two hours of feasting, in his usual humorous and genial manner, he called upon one after another to respond to toasts. Professor A. W. Moss of this city, of the class of '75, spoke of what the graduates of his time had been trying to do for the cause of education.

Professor Noetling of the faculty alluded to the improvements and changes being made at the school. Miss Evans of West Pittston, class of '91, read a short poem, which showed considerable talent. Dr. Welsh, the principal of the school, spoke of the growth and prosperity of the school and of new features being introduced. He called attention to the additions being made in the equipment of the institution and to the policy of holding up a high standard of scholarship and professional training.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are as follows: President, G. J. Clark, Esq., '86; vice president, Prof. A. W. Moss, '76; secretary, Miss Wintersteen, '90; treasurer, B. F. Myers.

The president was authorized to appoint an executive committee.

Nearly two hundred of the alumi of the school, the number being swelled by a delegation from Scranton and Lackawanna County, were present and in separating declared this meeting the most successful and pleasant ever held in this city.—Wilkesbarre Record, Nov. 3.

A DESERVED PROMOTION.

Oscar W. Ent has passed a successful examination before the Superintendent of Railway Mail service, and has been assigned to a position on the route between New York and Pittsburg. His salary will be increased from $610 to $800 a year. This will necessitate his removal from Bloomsburg, and he will be missed, not only by his many friends, but in the Band, and in St. Paul's choir, and other organizations of which he has been a faithful member.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

A special meeting of Council was held Thursday night, November 2.

On motion of Gorry and Holmes petition of Paul E. Wirt for sewer from termination of Jefferson to Fifth street was granted.

Petition of Water Company to lower the water main on West street was laid on the table.

The Council agreed that the question as to whether in notifying persons to repair their pavement it is necessary to attach the ordinance to the notices, be submitted to the solicitor.

Bond of M. C. Woodward, collector, approved.

Swentzel and Peacock moved that Dr. J. R. Evans be notified to raise his pavement to grade.

Mr. Holmes moved that property owners on Main street be notified to raise their pavements.

The ordinance to vacate alley extending from East street and between the property of John Jones, deceased, and B. B. Freas to Chestnut alley, passed.

Resolution to increase the bonded indebtedness of the town $7,000 was passed and the President authorized to issue and make sale of proper coupon bonds to that amount.

Building permits granted to C. C. Peacock and Paul E. Wirt.

The President was also ordered to renotify Mrs. Petriken and other owners of property on N. E. Corner of East street to relay their pavements according to ordinance.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held last Monday night, present, Messrs. Drinker, Peacock, Gorry, Holmes and Housel. The President stated the object of the meeting to be to take action on the opening of Ninth street. There was some discussion as to the manner in which the meeting was called, but it amounted to nothing, as the business for which it was called was transacted. Permits were granted to J. B. Brobst for the erection of a two story carriage shop on West Main street; also to Geo. Rosenstock for a house on Fourth street, and to W. B. Cummings for a Methodist Mission Chapel on Eighth street.

C. W. Miller Esq., presented a release from D. J. Waller Sr., for the ground which he has dedicated to the public as Ninth street, below the canal, the street to be 60 feet wide. On motion of Holmes the deed of release was accepted and the ordinance as prepared was adopted.

The proposed Elevator Co was exonerated from tax for ten years, by a vote of 4 to 1. Adjourned.

Arrangements with the B. & S. Railroad for Institute Week.

Arrangements have been made with the B. & S. Railroad to have a train run to Orangeville next week during Institute every night after the lecture.

On Thursday evening, Nov. 16th, the train will run as far as Benton to accommodate all persons who desire to hear the Ollie Torbett Concert Company, which will be the treat of the season.

A large force of men are employed on Iron street, digging a trench for the new water main from the reservoir. On Wednesday noon the earth caved in in front of J. B. Casey's residence, and broke the supply pipe leading into the house. The water flew in every direction for a little while, but it was stopped by turning it off from the main at the corner of Rock street. The men worked until late at night to complete the trench, lest there might be another cave in.

There is a prospect now that the new hymnal of the Episcopal Church, with music, will be ready in January. It will contain over eight hundred pages. The old hymnal is still used at St. Paul's Church because the choir has been unable to procure the new one, owing to the delay in the publication Due announcement will be made before the use of the new one is begun.

The dinner to be served in St. Paul's Parish House to morrow (Saturday) from five to nine o'clock will be one of those delicious meals for which the ladies having it in charge are famous C. P. Elwell's orchestra will render some of their popular music during the evening. The price of the tickets is but 50 cents, including dinner and concert. Everybody is invited.

Robert McBride is a busy man. He employs about a dozen hands, and has many jobs of painting and papering in progress. He is prompt in doing his work, and when completed, it is done right.

BRIEF MENTION.

About People You Know.

J. J. Brower is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Lingle, in Bellefonte.

Rev. D. J. Waller Sr., is seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Freas Hicks have been visiting Mr. J. K. Lockard's.

FOR GIRLS AND BOYS.

TEDDY'S LAMENT.

"But one week more—I can't believe Vacation's passed so soon."
And Teddy paused in blank dismay
  Right in a merry tune.
"I'd planned to have a lot of fun,
  Vacation to enjoy,
And now to find it almost gone—
  It's too hard on a boy.

"Of course I went a-camping out
  Ten days on Bullrush Isle;
Had lovely days and fairer nights;
  Not once it rained the while.
I fished and went a-hunting, too,
  Took boat rides every day;
How many lovely tramps I took,
  I'm sure I couldn't say.

I spent two weeks on grandpa's farm,
  Ate berries ripe and red;
I got the cow 'most every night,
  And grandma's chickens fed.
I learned to milk the mooley-cow,
  Helped grandma churn the cream,
I slept real early every night,
  Rose at the dawn's first gleam.

I celebrated, too, the Fourth,
  With glorious lot of noise,
From crackers, caps and other works,
  Just like the other boys.
I went to socials and lawn fetes,
  To picnics and to parks,
And now that horrid school board puts
  An end to all our larks.

"If I were boss that would not be,
  I'd change things round quite soon;
I'd have school called at ten o'clock,
  And end before 'twas noon.
I'd have vacation nine whole months,
  Have school the other three,
With half a holiday each week,
  And all the Fridays free."

THE STORY OF SMUGGY.

Or, Why Clem and Patty Didn't Steal the Apples.

"Let's slip down into the Gray orchard and get a few apples on the big tree by the wall," said Clem.

"All right," answered Patty. "There's such a lot of them, and not more than half of them will ever be picked."

Patty put her hand up to her lips a few moments later. She stopped short in the lane, too.

"Why, Clem," she said, slowly. "There's a family just moved into the Gray house. I'd forgotten all about it."

"Oh, they won't see us. They'll be too busy getting their things fixed up in the house. And papa said he knew they wouldn't be a bit stingy, like old Squire Gray used to be. Come on. We'll just get a few apples anyway."

Patty hesitated a little before she went on, and when at last she said: "Guess they will be too busy to look out of the windows much," it was not in a very decided tone of voice.

"We'll go around by the hill this time, and they will be sure not to see us." Clem sturdily answered.

So Patty went trudging on with her brother, for the way he had named seemed a very safe one, though the knolls made it rather hard and rough for both their feet. By and by, as they came nearer the orchard, they both heard a brisk hammering in the Gray house, which made it quite plain to Clem that the new neighbors were very busy.

"Just as I told you," he said, with a triumphant toss of his head.

And then, before Patty had time to answer a word, out flew a dog from behind a stone wall, and "Bow-wow-wow!" sounded his thrill little voice.

Clem started to run, but Patty took him by the sleeve as she laughingly said: "He don't mean to bite. Just see his tail waggle. It's the way our good old Bose used to do, and he never hurt anybody."

"Seems like it," Clem answered as he stopped, though he did not look as if he were yet fully convinced about the matter.

Just then a kind voice called from the Gray house: "Smuggy, Smuggy, come here." The dog stopped his barking and wagged his tail still faster.

When Patty spoke the dog's name he seemed greatly pleased, though he walked off toward the house as if he must obey at once.

"Funny name for a dog," said Clem.

"Yes, indeed," answered Patty, "but he must be nice."

"Indeed he is," spoke a lady from behind the wall as she heard what the children were saying.

"How did you happen to give him such a name?" Clem asked as quickly as he could, trying to hide his embarrassment.

"It was because of his way of taking things when he was a puppy," the lady answered in her kindest tones. "He used to carry off our shoes, and anything which he found about the house. It seemed to give him great pleasure to hide them away where we would have a long hunt for them. So one of my brothers named him Smuggler. But we soon found that to be a pretty long name by which to call him when we wished him to come into the house or do anything for us. So we shortened it to Smuggy, or Smug, when we were in a hurry. It is a name which sounds quite strange to those who hear it for the first time, but we have got used to it."

"I'm real glad you told us about it," said Patty. "And I guess we must be going home now."

"You are welcome to all the apples you wish to get from our trees, for we are very busy and can not begin to pick them all." The lady spoke that to the children with one of her brightest smiles.

Patty thanked her, but answered as firmly as before: "I guess that we must be going home now."

"Yes," Clem added, "for father might want us to help him about something."

And away they went up the hill, though the lady once more told them that they had better fill their pockets with apples.

"Guess we were both thinking about the same thing," said Clem, when he and his sister had gone on a short way.

"Maybe we were," Patty answered, with a bright twinkle in her eyes. "What were you thinking over? Something about that dog with the funny name?"

Clem nodded his head.

"Should think so," he added. "Don't see how I could help it. All the boys around here will laugh at Smuggy's queer name. And he got it fixed on him just because he—took things that didn't belong to him, on the sly. Just got it tied to him so that he can't shake it off any way."

"We are something like him in eating apples the way we started out to do to-day," said Patty. "That's what I couldn't help thinking about. And its queer enough we had to hear a story that made us see ourselves so. Hope the boys haven't made up any nick-names about us, because we have been to the Gray place orchard so much."

"Guess they haven't, and we'll take care they don't have a chance to do it over anything like that. Just think how it would sound to be called smuggy all the time."

And Clem looked straight into Patty's face as he was making some very good resolutions about how he would behave himself in the future.—Morning Star.

PUZZLERS FOR A COMPANY.

A Triplet of Riddles in Verse and Their Answers.

The next time you are asked to tell a riddle, the others among the company having told one, give this one. The answer is a postage-stamp.

Of various colors, both small and square,
You're certain to meet with me everywhere.
Traveling farther than birds on the wing,
You are gladdened or saddened by that which I bring.

If the company, having guessed or given up this one, insists that you must "tell another," here are two more. If you can not readily commit one of them to memory, perhaps the other will come to your tongue more easily. The answer of the first one is a bed, and of the second a broom.

They made me to-day, and yesterday too,
They will make me again to-morrow:
The poor sometimes sell me, 'tis all they can do,
And then 'tis a cause for sorrow.
Yet think for a moment, and you will declare,
Though unwilling to part with me so,
If told you must keep me six months or a year,
You would find that a reason for woe.

With bushy head and body thin
Each well-kept house I dwell within
In "scrimmages" I'm piled with ease
(But not in well-bred families).
A Dutchman used me once to show
How Holland banished every foe;
With me aloft he sailed the main,
But nevermore came home again.

The Dead Man's Rope.

Many children have gone to the seashore in the summer, and they must have seen a funny sea-weed called "sea lace." It loves to fasten itself on rocks and stones.

This little sea-weed is like a cord, and sometimes there are many of them fixed together. They might be used for shoestrings when they are dry, they are so strong. Fishermen do often use them for lines.

In England they call this sea lace "dead man's rope," because when people are swimming it winds around them, and holds them so tightly that they can not get away.

In great masses it sometimes even stops vessels. Some of these cords are forty feet long.

The sea moss is the "Irish moss," which, when dry, is used in making the nice jellies and blanc-mange you are so fond of.

I am sure you have often seen it when you have been on the beach. It grows in clusters, with little fringed edges, far above where the waves come in. Sometimes it bleaches out almost white. — Mrs. G. Hall, in Our Little Ones.

A Big Bargain.

William Ann—You haven't got a cook here that would weigh, say, two hundred pounds, have you?

Intelligence Lady—Mercy, no! Why must you have such a big one?

William Ann—My wife bought a forty-eight corset for eight cents, and she wants a cook she can give it to.—Puck.

And He Left.

"Rose," said the adorer, taking his hat and cane for the seventh time, and making the third bluff at leaving since eleven o'clock, "Rose, bid me but hope. I could wait for you forever."

"That's all very well, Mr. Staylate," said the beautiful girl, coldly, "but you needn't begin to-night."—Chicago Record.

He Envies the Czar.

Grocer—Mr. Slowpay, do you know why the czar of Russia would make a success in the grocery business?

Mr. Slowpay—I don't think I do.

Grocer—Well, it's because he doesn't trust anybody.—Texas Siftings.

A Degree Worse.

"Well, Johnny, how are you? Do you find dollars scarce, as everybody else does?"

"I am worse off than that. I even find half dollars scarce."—Brooklyr Life.

CLOSURE.

Lily White—Did you have many offers during the summer?

Phœbe Bird—Many? Why, I had to limit the proposal speeches to five minutes.—Puck.

When Obedience Is Easy.

He—What a woman that Mrs. High-strung is! Does she ever obey anyone?

She—Oh, yes; she obeys her husband implicitly.

He—Her husband must be a very strong-minded man, then.

She—Not at all. He simply tells her to do exactly as she pleases, and she obeys without a murmur. — Boston Globe.

Mulcted and Cholmondley.

Tommy—Here's a queer word, nurse. It's spelled m-u-l-e-t-e-d.

Nurse (gazing long and earnestly at it)—I can't make it out, Tommy, unless it's some new dood way of spellin' mustard. I knowed a man in Oireland once what spelled his name Charlie Mandelay, but called it Chumly. Maybe this is one of his spellin's.—Harper's Bazar.

A Triumph.

Mr. Parvenu (to his wife who has just returned from the seaside)—Well, did you make an impression on s'ciety, my love?

Mrs. Parvenu—Didn't I, though? Wore my diamonds down to breakfast every mornin' an' not another woman in the hotel had any on.—Chicago Record.

Not Her Fault.

Jennie—Hasn't Gus Clamwhooper proposed yet?

Fannie—Not yet. He hasn't even kissed me, and I have accidentally met him six different times in the dark hallway. I can't do any more than that, can I?—Texas Siftings.

An Incomplete Sale.

Mrs. Rifter—I ordered a piece of dress-goods here yesterday, and I wish to know if it has been cut yet.

Floor-Walker (after investigation)—No, ma'am, it has not; the salesman said you hadn't been in yet to change your mind.—Puck.

His Daily Duty.

"And they say you drove that rich man to drink?"

"Yes, sir, but I couldn't help it."

"Couldn't help it! What do you mean?"

"He made me, sir. I was his coachman."—Brooklyn Life.

An Ignorant Captain.

Old Lady—What is the matter now?

Steamboat Captain—We've run on a sand-bar.

Old Lady—Well, why don't you go over it? What's your walking beam for, I'd like to know?—N. Y. Weekly.

In Deep Trouble.

Stranger—What's the matter, my little man?

Small Boy—I—I took mamma out for a walk, and I've lost her somehow, and I'm 'fraid she can't find herself anywhere. Boo, hoo, hoo!—Good News.

A Singular Error.

"Haw-haw!" laughed the Chicago man, as he read the bill of fare. "You easterners make some queer mistakes. You've got croquettes under the head of entries. Out west croquette is a game."—Brooklyn Life.

Nemesis.

Sweet Girl—My hired chaperone saw you kiss me last night.

Adorer—My gracious! What did you do?

Sweet Girl—I discharged her.—N. Y. Weekly.

Boasts.

Tom—I saw a mountain this summer so high that it was in the clouds.

Jack—That's nothing. I saw a valley so deep that it was in a lake.—Harper's Young People.

Logic Is Logic.

"May I call you Mae?"

"But you have known me such a short time."

"Yes; but Mae is such a short name."—Puck.

LETTERS FROM DR. NEAL.

CANADIAN PACIFIC R. R. CO.
"EMPRESS OF JAPAN."

SATURDAY MORNING, SEPT. 9, 1893.

Though the ship is pitching and tossing at a great rate this morning and the motion seems to be getting steadily worse, I want if possible to give you a connected account of our journey across the Pacific. We are nearing the end of our long voyage and very happy we shall all be when we cast anchor in the harbor of Yokohama, and feel we can have a respite of at least one day from the constant motion of sea and screw, which for ten days past has racked our bodies and at times made us feel that life under such circumstances was scarcely worth living. We have had a very disagreeable passage, the sea being rough almost all the time, smooth enough for perfect comfort only two or three days out of the whole time, while the weather has been cold and foggy with little sunshine almost continuously. No one who has not tried it can know the awful monotony and positive suffering endured in the long passage across the Pacific in rough weather, so many days out of sight of land, plunging and toiling day after day through the apparently limitless expanse of waters and getting up each morning seemingly no nearer our goal than the day before.

The great event of each day is the reckoning at noon of the progress we have made since noon of the day before, the determination of the position of the ship at sea and marking that position on a chart which is kept in the library for each one to study at his leisure. We have not made fast time, the highest run being 378 miles and the lowest 341, which is slow as compared with the Atlantic greyhounds but very good for the Pacific where steamers do not try to beat each other's record.

We left Vancouver about five o'clock Tuesday morning of last week and after a short stop at Victoria, the capital of British Columbia, about noon of that day left the land, not to touch it again until we enter the harbor of Yokohama, over 5,000 miles away across a weary waste of waters with not a glimpse of land to cheer the eye. From Victoria the ship steered slightly north until it reached, after two days, fifty and a half degrees north latitude after which it came straight west on that parallel for four days, passing within perhaps fifty or sixty miles of the Aleutian Islands which we did not see, and then turning slightly south has continued ever since running in a southwesterly direction for Yokohama which we hope to reach early Monday morning, two weeks within one day from the time we left Vancouver. Strictly of course we shall have been only twelve days making the trip as we dropped last Tuesday when we crossed the 180th degree of longitude. You know a day is always dropped on crossing that line in coming west so that you have a week of only six days, and on going east a day is added so that you have a week of eight days.

So far as our ship itself is concerned we are very comfortable. Our state room is large and convenient, the library comfortable and the dining saloon cheerful, while the deck is most roomy and well protected from the weather. If only the weather and sea were what might be desired we should have had a very comfortable trip, especially as the company on board is very agreeable. I think on the whole it is the most sociable ship load of people we have ever traveled with. There are a lot of missionaries on board beside our own party of five, a very nice English family consisting of father, mother, two daughters and a son, a party of four Yale students, one of whom we have found very pleasant, some Harvard boys and a number of Germans and others, eighty-seven in all in the first cabin, beside a number of Chinese in the steerage. Everybody seems inclined to be friendly, at least the majority do, so when the weather is good we have some very nice times together. We had very pleasant services on Sunday morning with singing in the afternoon and evening.

Thursday evening of this week we had a grand concert in the dining saloon and yesterday afternoon a very entertaining lot of athletic games on deck, one of the events of which was a "Tug of War," British Empire against the World, in which we managed to get the better of the British and haul them over the line. There were nine men on each side. On ours were several Germans, we Yale men and a Harvard man or two. In the evening we had a very pleasant social time playing games down below in the dining saloon. But as I said in beginning, reading, writing, amusements and all else pall on one and we long only for land and rest, from this frightful motion which this morning is particularly bad, so much so that I must get below.

MONDAY, SEPT. 11, 7.30 A. M.

We are in sight of Fuji Yama, the famous mountain of Japan, and in a couple of hours will drop anchor in the harbor of Yokohama. The voyage is ending, so to speak, in a blaze of glory, what with the smoothest of seas and bright sunlight yesterday and to-day, concerts, athletic sports, games, etc., during the latter half of last week, and a balmy air which has made us all shed our winter clothes and come out in full summer garb. The shores of Japan are lovely and it seems good to be nearing them once more. I shall write again later.

JAMES B. NEAL.

SEPT. 13, '93:—All day long we have been sailing over lovely Summer seas through the beautiful inland Sea of Japan, until at sunset we reached the Straits of Shiminoscki leading out into the open sea, and for half an hour or more were charmed with a succession of the loveliest glimpses of quiet harbors, green hills and nestling villages, some looking dull and sombre in the fading light, others lit up with the brightness of the setting sun. It was a most enchanting close to a charming day, for all day we have been in sight of land, sometimes very near by and sometimes miles away, the villages looking very picturesque among the hollows of the hills, which were very varied in their shapes and in the amount of verdure on them, some being very beautifully green, while others were bare and brown.

We reached Yokohama about 10 o'clock Monday morning but as the ship remained there only until the middle of the afternoon we had time only for a few hours on shore. It seemed very pleasant to be once more in Japan, but of course to me it was not the novelty our first day was ten years ago, but to the young ladies it was simply fascinating—they could not find words to express their delight and interest in all they saw. And certainly the Japanese are a most interesting people. I never tire of their picturesque costumes, their cute babies and their lovely country.

Leaving Yokohama about 4 o'clock Monday we sailed into the harbor of Kobe at the end of twenty-four hours, so that we had several hours before dark to go ashore to see the sights. A party of nine of us hired jinrikshas and rode first to an old Buddhist temple, which really did not amount to much, going from there to a beautiful little water fall about a mile from the landing jitty, among the hills which rise abruptly back of the town. It is a small place but very pretty indeed, and is evidently a good deal resorted to. Here we had tea and cake, then came back to our ship for evening dinner.

We left Kobe about 4 this morning and shall be in Nagaski early to-morrow morning, our last step before reaching Shanghai.

SATURDAY, SEPT. 16:—We are again in China and right glad we are to be at the end of our long sea voyage, and again among our celestial friends, though of course we shall not feel entirely at home until we get up north into Shantung. We had an interesting day in Nagasaki, eight of us going off in jinrikshas for a trip over the hills to a little fishing village about four miles away. The harbor of Nagasaki is a beautiful land-locked bay, surrounded on all sides but one by hills, and as we left at four in the afternoon we had an excellent opportunity to watch the hill fade from sight, as we steamed out into the China Sea away from lovely Japan toward the flat shores of China.

We reached the mouth of the Yang Tsze river before daylight this morning, and at about eight left the "Empress," on which we had been for nearly three weeks, and came up to Shanghai on the company's tender. Mr. Fitch, of the Mission Press, met us at the wharf and we are now comfortably settled at a hotel until next Tuesday when we go on to Chefoo.

Positive and Negative.

The Race Question is unsettled. But it is settled that Hood's Sarsaparilla leads all remedies.

Disease marches through all lands. But good health blesses all who take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Dyspepsia is a great foe of the human race. But Hood's Sarsaparilla puts it to flight.

Scrofula is one of the most terrible diseases. But Hood's Sarsaparilla expels it from the system.

The people of this day, like Job, suffer from boils. But Hood's Sarsaparilla is a sovereign remedy for them.

Catarrh is one of the most disagreeable disorders. But Hood's Sarsaparilla is sure to relieve and cure it.

Rheumatism racks the system like a thumb screw. But it retreats before the power of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Loss of appetite leads to melancholia. But Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the plainest repast tickle the palate.

Life is short and time is fleeting, but Hood's Sarsaparilla will bless humanity as the ages roll on.

The Christmas number of Harper's Magazine will be noteworthy even in the history of that periodical. It will be profusely illustrated. A sympathetic study of "The Old Dominion," by Thomas Nelson Page, and a contemporary view of "The House of Commons," by Thomas Power O'Connor, are among the attractions of the number. It will contain nine short stories.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

THE PRESIDENT'S GRATIFICATION.

APPOINTMENTS TO BE MADE.

The New Tariff Bill.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6, 1893.

"President Cleveland," said a gentleman who is a frequent and welcome visitor at the President's suburban residence, "has fewer of the savage elements which cause men to grow offensively exultant over their triumphs than any prominent public man I have ever known. While he was gratified that Congress carried out the ideas expressed in his message by unconditionally repealing the purchasing clause of the Sherman silver law, his gratification was tinged with regret because a majority of the democratic Senators voted against repeal; but he bears them no ill will for having done so, believing them to be as honest in their opinions as he is in his own, and also believing that time will soon show them their error. And I wish to say and to emphasize the statement that the various stories started by those who would profit by a division in the democratic ranks, of the President's intention to punish the Senators who voted against repeal by withholding patronage from them, are in every case purely imaginary. The President is too big a man to engage in that sort of business. When the vote was taken on the Voorhees bill the contest was ended, and the democratic Senators who voted against it will in the future receive precisely the same consideration from the President that they would have gotten had they voted for it. I know that to be true."

Now that Congress is out of the way for a few weeks it is expected that a large number of important appointments will be made, and republicans who are filling offices the commissions of which have expired would be better making their preparations to step down and out. This expectation has kept a considerable number of Senators and Representatives in Washington since Congress adjourned.

The adjournment of Congress will not result in a vacation for the democratic members of the House Ways and Means committee; on the contrary, they are working harder than ever, as it is their intention to get the new tariff bill completed at as early a day as possible. Daily sittings of the committee are now being held, under a resolution adopted by the House, and chairman Wilson hopes to be able to furnish the republican minority of the committee with a copy of the completed bill in about two weeks, so that they may have time enough to prepare their report in order that the bill and the majority and minority reports may be submitted to the House together during the first week of the regular session.

The President's message on Hawaii's application for annexation was ready to be sent to the Senate last week, but as the sentiment for adjournment was so strong it was thought best to withhold it until the regular session.

The Chinese Minister was greatly pleased at the action of Congress in amending the Geary law, and he has promised Secretary Gresham that the whole influence of the Chinese in the United States to comply with the law within the six months which the amendment gives them.

Owing to the estimates of the various departments of the government for the next fiscal year not being quite ready the members of the House committee on Appropriations will get two weeks of rest, but on the twentieth instant they will begin to prepare the regular Appropriation bills and from that time until the bills become laws they will be on the jump all the time. The work of this committee is always hard, but it will be harder than usual this year, because the condition of the Treasury makes it necessary that every item shall be carefully scrutinized and everything lopped off that can be done without.

This is the sensible way that Senator Voorhees answers the silly talk that has to a certain extent been indulged in by some cracked-brained people about the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman silver law resulting in a split in the democratic party: "On the democratic side of the chamber, while there were very strong differences of opinion, I do not know of a single unfriendly feeling left by the protracted discussion. Neither party organization nor personal relations have been disturbed. We will take up our work on the tariff and other great questions when we meet in December as if nothing had happened to mar our peace with one another or to impair our strength for the public good. Our faith in the present able and thoroughly patriotic administration has never been greater than now, and, to my mind, the future wears a bright and promising aspect."

The Treasury Department has issued temporary commissions to a number of officials, including Director of the Mint Preston, whose nominations were unacted upon by the Senate. It is not probable that a commission will be issued to Mr. Hornblower whose nomination to the Supreme Court was unacted upon, as it will be only four weeks before his nomination may be again sent to the Senate.

FORKS.

Annie Ammerman, of her age, is displaying an excellent voice under fine control. We expect to hear from her in the coming years.

Notwithstanding the new mill erected at Benton, Wesley Bowman and son Henry, at Orangeville, are running a heavy business night and day, with their years of established business, and their magnificent water power. They propose to keep up their old established reputation with less than the same ease it was born.

Miss Lena Henry is attending school at Stillwater and speaks very highly of her teacher, Miss Ella Hazzard, of Bloomsburg, a graduate of Normal School. We are informed that Miss Hazzard is very bright.

Mrs. Anna McHenry of Stillwater, is deserving of great praise, because she is so diligent and assiduous in every good work. She is one of the great spirits in the missionary here, and Sunday School duties.

S. B. Crouse has been visiting home recently, and will soon remove from Berwick works and go into occupation and business at Elk Grove, at North Mountain.

Miss Marie Crouse is attending school at Stillwater, and improving rapidly.

J. W. and W. E. Geisinger have been doing some fine roofing and repairing at James Trump's recently.

Jacob Geisinger and crew, put up a fine large home for Mr. Jno. Welsh this summer near Orangeville—a credit to their efficiency in carpentering. J. W. is employed on the Perry hotel at Elk Run, above Central.

W. E. Geisinger expects to leave for Virginia visiting his parents shortly, and remain during the winter at least.

Hiram A. Shaeffer of Orangeville, is running a first class hotel; is a congenial gentleman as a landlord, and has a fine run of custom.

The Sunday School convention held in Zion's Church, on last Friday P. M. and evening was a decided success. The attendance was large and the different Sunday Schools finely represented. The addresses were able and interesting conspicuous among which were Messrs. Hiram Bower and Sterling W. Dickson of Berwick. Berwick was ably represented intellectually and morally in these two addresses which made a fine impression. Miron Low of Lime Ridge, spoke very efficiently, also Rev. Mr. Houtz gave an excellent address with fine classical allusions. Rev. Houp and another gentlemen from Williamsport spoke well in the afternoon. Mrs. McHenry of Stillwater read an excellent essay at night. Mr. Keeler, of Asbury presided.

James Geisinger proposes to make Bloomsburg his home this winter.

The renovation of the cemetery of Zion's Church will come off on the forenoon and afternoon. It is to be hoped that all those who have relatives and friends buried there will be out in full force, promptly on that day to fix up the graves and improve the city of the dead. Aside from this the hitching posts around Zion's Church require to be renewed—a duty to be looked after on Saturday next. Come one, come all.

The young people have resumed singing exercises in the neighborhood, more especially for Church choir music. There is fine singing talent here, and it is being developed.

E. J. B. and Wm. Unangst drove over to Berwick recently, and had a pleasant day of it.

E. J. B. seems to be doing efficient service addressing Epworth Leagues during the last few weeks.

Harry Jenkins and family, after spending the Sabbath here departed for Elk Grove on last Monday morning.

Conductor Scott is winning golden opinions as officer on the R. R.

The old people's Epworth meeting at Asbury last Sabbath was very interesting.

Merchant Ammerman has received a fine line of goods for winter use.

Miss McHenry of Orangeville spent Sunday with Forks friends.

John Harrison has purchased and is now having placed a fine pair of wagon scales.

E. M. Laubach, we are sorry to say is on the sick list.

Now we feel confident that your readers will get the news from this section, since you have two correspondents at Forks. We doff our beaver to the new scribe.

Miss Ella Andrews has returned from her visit to Chicago.

The W. C. T. U. at Asbury have a new banner.

Mrs. J. M. Ammerman and son Roy were in Bloom last Saturday.

John Harrison went to Mainville on business this week.

Isaac Frye and daughter, Daisy, visited friends in Snyder county, last week.

Mamie Bogart will move on O. A. Pealer's farm in Pealertown in the spring. Mr. Pealer expects to go west.

There is always room at the top, excepting in the house of the literary man, who fills the attic with papers which he values, and which other folks regard as so much rubbish.

FIND YOUR NAME.

A PUZZLE, WITH MONEY PRIZES.

There are known to be more than one hundred names of persons, such as Mary, Henry, etc., in the above, reading by the King's move in chess, which is one move up, down, right, left, or diagonally. Harper's Young People will divide $25.00 among the five who find the most names, and it generously opens the competition to boys and girls who read THE COLUMBIAN. Only those may send answers who have not passed their eighteenth birthday, and they must mail such answers on or before December 7th, to Harper's Young People, Franklin Square, New York, and put the words "Round Table" in the lower left-hand corner of the envelope. Write the names one below another, and number them. Put your own name, with your first name spelled out, and your address in full, at the top of the sheet, and at the head of the list of prize names place the figure 5—a good size.

Harper's Young People will publish the longest list sent in by any competitor, with names of the prize winners, as soon after the close of the contest as possible. A wide latitude of names will be allowed, provided you follow this imperative rule: where names which you include in your list are uncommon ones, give the spelling adopted by some person bearing such name, who is known in person to you, or to some of your friends, young or old.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars; free.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1893.

TUESDAY'S ELECTIONS.

DEMOCRATS DEFEATED IN MANY STATES.

Outside of Pennsylvania and New Jersey elections were held Tuesday in twelve states—New York, Ohio, Massachusetts, Iowa, Maryland, Virginia, Kansas, Nebraska, Kentucky, Michigan, South Dakota and Illinois.

In New York the election was for Secretary of State, Comptroller, Attorney-General Treasurer, State Engineer and Surveyor, Associate Justices of the Court of Appeals and delegates to the convention to revise the State Constitution.

Interest chiefly centered in the contest for the Judgeship, in which Bartolett was the Republican candidate and Maynard that of Senator Hill and Tammany Hall. The result of the election was that Tammany and its candidate was badly beaten, that the entire Republican State ticket was elected, and that both branch of the New York Legislature will be Republican, although some of the Democratic leaders still cling to the hope that the Senate will be Democratic.

IN OTHER STATES.

The election in Ohio was for Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Treasurer, Attorney-General, Commissioner of Public Works, Judge of the Supreme Court, Dairy Commissioner, and a Legislature consisting of 107 Representatives and 31 Senators.

The Gubernatorial candidates were the present incumbent, Governor McKinley, and Neal, the nominee of the Democratic party. The result of the contest was that the Democrats were badly beaten, McKinley being returned by something like double his plurality of two years ago.

In Massachusetts the Republican candidate for Governor and the whole Republican ticket was elected, while in Iowa Governor Boies, the present democratic incumbent, who sought re-election, was defeated by a majority of 33. In Virginia Colonel C. T. O'Ferrell, the democratic candidate for Governor, is elected by 40,000 majority, while in Kentucky the Democrats have captured the Legislature.

The Salt Lake City Daily Tribune of the 19th of last October, is one of the most amusing things that ever fell into my hands. It worships at the shrine of the silver god. It sacrifices upon the altar every principle of justice and truth. It would offer in burnt sacrifice the inalienable rights of every American freeman if that would appease the wrath of the silver god. It pays its respects in haughty homage to the leading republican repealing senators, to the republican party, to Senator John Sherman personally, to the "democracy and its president," to the country in general, and to Senator Hill in particular. Here is a sample of its political sin hating faculty. Speaking of Senator Hill it says: "To day in the senate he is advocating what he believes to be a gross outrage and monstrous wrong and he is doing it to keep in with the democracy of New York, and count on the solid south to elect him president. When the plague came to Egypt, after the rod was turned into a serpent, after the river was turned into blood, and the fish that were in the river died, after the thunder and the hail, and the fire ran along the ground, and the murrain came to the beasts, and there was a plague of frogs, there came a plague of locusts. It is possible Mr. Hill will yet be elected president." 'For twenty years' says the Tribune have depression, distress and oppression followed in the wake of demonitizing silver in 1873, and also charges the present business depression upon a change of administration. In enumerating the plagues of Egypt as parallel to the panics and business depression for the last twenty years, the Tribune overlooked the most dire of all plagues, in our day, and that is the plague of cranks, of which it is chief. Senator Hill may yet be the Moses that will be elected president who will lead the nation out of the plague of cranks. Senator Hill's signal ability, sterling integrity and great devotion to the cause of his country's good in the senate has gained for him the admiration of all true Americans, and the fear of the plague of cranks. True to the prophetic insinuation of the Tribune, "Mr. Hill may yet be elected president." The people will have no cause for regret if, "so mote it be."

☞ Roman letters indicate republican candidates, SMALL CAPS democratic, and Italics prohibition. The following is the vote cast for the People's party candidates in the respective townships: Benton 3, Bloomsburg 1st dist. 3, Bloomsburg 2nd dist. 1, Bloomsburg 4th dist. 1, Catawissa township 1, Conyngham north 1, Conyngham west 1, Fishingcreek 2, Greenwood west 1, Orange 3, Scott west 1. Total, 18.

For reasons which it is scarcely necessary to mention, this issue of this paper is not decorated with a display of poultry. This does not seem to have been a lucky week for the democratic rooster. But we shall keep our chicken coop in readiness for some future occasion, as it will surely be needed. The grand old party that has stood the storms and battles of so many years, will never die, and it will come up smilingly to the front every time. The result of Tuesday's election is scarcely to be wondered at. It is characteristic of the American citizens to vote against the party in power when the country is suffering from business depression, and times are hard, no matter who is responsible for that condition. It was so last Tuesday, and it always has been so, and probably always will be so. In New York and New Jersey there were additional causes; in the former the candidacy of Judge Maynard who was opposed by many of the leading democratic papers, and whose nomination was an unfit one: and in the latter the race track issue. It was an off year in many of the states, and the vote was light. Next year when congressmen are to be elected the democratic hosts will buckle on their armor and be ready for the fray.

To restore gray hair to its natural color as in youth, cause it to grow abundant and strong, there is no better preparation than Hall's Hair Renewer.

The House passed the Sherman law repeal bill and the President signed the bill an hour afterwards, and then congress adjourned.

Hood's Praises Itself

Kidney Troubles—Bright's Disease Cured

Now Able to Work and Sound as a Dollar.

Mr. John Saxton
Of Scottdale, Pa.

"I do think Hood's Sarsaparilla is 'worth its weight in gold.' For four years I suffered misery with terrible pains in my back and trouble with my kidneys. The doctors thought I had Bright's disease. Many a time I had to give up work, and continually grew worse, and when I sat or stooped down I had to be helped up. At last had to give up and go to bed and remain six long weeks. It was then I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I soon found that it was helping me although I had been told nothing would help me and thought

I Would Have to Die.

But I continued to improve till I am now in perfect health and have as good a back as any man in town. Today I can do a good day's work, and truly feel that Hood's Sarsaparilla was a God-send to me. I am as sound as the best dollar that was ever made, and I want this statement put into print so that everybody can see what good it did me. Every word of the above can be proved by a score of people here who know how I suffered and how I have been cured. I took but six bottles. I think no one can praise Hood's Sarsaparilla as much as it will praise itself." JOHN SAXTON, Scottdale, Westmoreland Co., Pennsylvania.

A REMINDER.

It is a long time since we have said anything about unpaid subscriptions, but when our books show thousands of dollars outstanding that we ought to have, and need constantly in our business, it is pardonable if we use these columns occasionally to remind those who owe us, that a newspaper cannot be published on wind. There are some who owe for three years or more, and who pay no attention to statements sent by mail. To such, notice is now given that their accounts must be settled before January 1st. If not paid by that time, they will be charged $1.50 a year, and costs may be made. All who owe for one, two or three years are respectfully requested to call and settle, at $1.00 a year. After an account is three years old it is liable to be charged at the rate of $1.50 a year, as that is the price when not paid in advance. We are compelled to give this notice because of the large sums due us that are scattered all over the county, and as there is certainly nothing unreasonable in the request, we trust that it will meet with a cheerful response.

A Mr. Campbell of Espy met with an accident one day last week at the saw mill of Irvin & Hoffman by which he came near being minus a thumb.

WALLER.

Halloween passed off quietly as usual in this law abiding community, but no doubt a great many of the superstitious who belong to the weaker sex meditated, and revolved those secret charms, which The COLUMBIAN unearthed as belonging to that occasion, in their minds so much that they finally resolved to prove to themselves the veracity of the statement. Never fear, though for they'll never tell and we all believe the COLUMBIAN every time, even though it may be as hard to believe as the ministers text after the boys had glued two leaves of the bible together and it read: "Noah took to himself a wife, who was a hundred and thirty cubits long and forty cubits wide, and made entirely of gopher wood, and pitched within and without." The preacher said he had never seen it that way before. but "it must be true or it would'nt be here. It is an evidence of the assertion in another portion of the bible that man is fearfully and wonderfully made."

The Union church was crowded to overflowing last Wednesday evening to hear Bishop Bowman, who preached a good sermon.

The Ladies Aid Society of Wesley chapel held an oyster supper at Mr. Theodore Mendenhall's Tuesday evening, which was largely attended.

Election day always makes Waller a lively place for the time being, and Tuesday was no exception to the rule as every one came out to vote or else see whether the rest were voting and all like to enjoy a good, social, country chat on such occasions.

Wesley chapel, or as it is commonly called Faus' church, will be dedicated next Sunday. It is about three miles from here on the road to Unityville and many from this place will attend the services.

Hunting does not seem to receive as much attention as formerly around here, yet we have heard of several pheasants being brought down. They seem to be more plentiful than any other game this fall.

THE GOSSIP OF GOTHAM.

The Unpolitical Anxieties of Grover Cleveland.

Adventures of Fred Grant—A Fortune in an Ostensorium and a New Aspect of Van Alen—A Philanthropic Gambler King.

[COPYRIGHT, 1893.]

When it was first rumored among a limited class of persons in New York that Grover Cleveland's personal pecuniary affairs were not in a flourishing condition there was general incredulity. It is well known that Mr. Cleveland is surrounded by as astute a set of financiers as ever lived, and it seemed surprising, therefore, that he should make unfortunate investments. Now it transpires that this very fact is responsible, although indirectly, for an unpleasant reduction in the amount of the president's private fortune.

When Mr. Cleveland was inaugurated he was worth, over his liabilities, about $500,000, less than that sum rather than more. This consisted of real estate, unencumbered; a bank account amounting, on March 2, to some $4,000; stock in a street railway, and of a snug sum, stated to be $60,000, invested upon bond and mortgage in New York and Buffalo. Shortly after Mr. Cleveland's election he changed entirely the nature of his investments. No inconsiderable amount of his fortune was so placed that it might be affected by his official actions. In order to avoid even the appearance of evil, the president-elect had all his securities disposed of and the proceeds invested in such a manner that no official policies of his could either increase or decrease their value. This was simply following a precedent set by all our chief magistrates, President Harrison having done a similar thing shortly before his inauguration.

CLEVELAND'S WASHINGTON HOUSE.

But when the cares of his office began to weigh upon Mr. Cleveland he found it entirely impossible to attend to his personal affairs. The real estate, for lack of management, yielded no revenue and the stocks were not holding their own. The president never owes much money—ten thousand dollars would pay his debts and more at almost any time, but the scale upon which he lives and the losses he sustained through his investments have left him poorer by a good deal than when he entered the white house last March. It is stated, upon an authority which leaves the assertion open to no dispute, that Mr. Cleveland is worth to-day barely two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and his salary is being spent as fast as it comes in.

It is to this state of affairs that the whispers of a possible resignation of the president are due. In the retirement of his private residence, near Washington, Mr. Cleveland has expressed his disapproval of present partisan tendencies in no uncertain way. No secret is made of the fact that Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Gresham have discussed together the possibility of Vice President Stevenson being called to a higher office otherwise than by a death.

The Grant Family.

It seems that Mrs. Nellie Grant Sartoris wishes her children to become out and out Americans, and for that reason the English branch, so to speak, of the American general's family will become acclimatized here. Col. Fred Grant is mainly responsible for this. In a letter to Mr. G. W. Childs he lately expressed a longing to have all the family at home. Moreover, Mrs. Grant, the soldier's widow, is no longer robust, and it is felt that her children and grandchildren should be about her in these declining years.

MRS. SARTORIS.

It seems likely that the Sartorises will settle in New York, but it is denied that an attempt will be made to get the boys into West Point. The youths are not qualified for the academy, anyhow.

Young Col. Fred Grant is a remarkably shrewd man of business. He has many money-making projects on foot, all of which are turning out well; but he is, unfortunately for himself, too generous with his funds. He gives to every needy chap who comes along. While in Austria his back door was crowded in the early morning hours by the mendicants of Vienna, eager to share in a distribution of the kitchen surplus.

When Col. Grant got back from his post he was visited by the representative of a young lady whose uncle was a well-to-do war veteran. This veteran concluded to leave all his money to his old general's son, but he had a niece in the far west whom he knew little of, and who was naturally worried at the prospect of getting nothing by inheritance from her uncle. So she had her legal representative in New York call upon Col. Grant. The latter, when he reached here from abroad, was not a little surprised to receive a letter from the eccentric veteran announcing that he had made the son of his old commander his heir. As soon as the ex-minister learned how matters stood he wrote a handsome letter to the old soldier, expresing gratitude for the mark of devotion, but declaring that he could not accept the bequest for various reasons, although he looked upon it as a very flattering mark of esteem. The next thing was a letter from the niece, thanking the colonel for his action. The uncle had made another will in her favor.

J. J. Van Alen's Future.

That Mr. Van Alen will sail from New York as ambassador to Italy is now a settled fact. Indeed, his agents here have been making purchases on his behalf, and this wealthy gentleman will voyage on an imposing scale. He is to have forty trunks at least, and no end of household goods will be transported to Italy with the rest of the belongings. Mr. Van Alen owns a rare assortment of sporting tackle, fishing rods, guns, saddle bags and the like. Then he possesses pictures and bric-a-brac without limit. The transportation of these articles to Italy has been determined upon and is a matter of perplexity to one of the foreign express companies here.

VAN ALEN.

It may be of interest to note that Mr. Van Alen and the young prince of Italy whom Humbert loves so much are on more or less friendly terms. The pair met in Paris at a dinner given by Duchess d'Uzes. This lady, having always maintained a sort of half mourning in spite of her social gayeties, wanted to have one dinner as a sort of swell international affair. One minister in Paris was then away on leave of absence, and the duchess invited Mr. Van Alen in the capacity of an American. The two fell into conversation on sporting subjects and ever since Mr. Van Alen has almost been on speaking terms with Italian royalty. But as the queen of Italy does not approve of her son's intimacy with any person not of the Roman Catholic faith, our ambassador may find the quirinal a frigid place. To be sure he can go to the vatican for the ecclesiastical halo.

Many persons having wondered why Van Alen selected the Italian of all foreign missions may be less puzzled by considering how agreeable it is to improve one's acquaintance with royalty.

A Fortune in Metal.

One of the costliest ostensoriums in the world has just arrived at the archbishop's residence from France, and will shortly go upon the cathedral altar in New York city. An ostensorium is that part of Catholic ceremonial plate in which the blessed sacrament is placed, and it is moved only upon the most solemn occasions. Many thousands of dollars have been expended upon this new ostensorium, which weighs about twenty-five pounds, and is all gold, silver and gems. It was paid for by contributions, which have been coming in for a long time. The article was received in bond and delivered at the archiepiscopal residence under government seal, the clergy not opening it until the custom officials had visited the house to break the seal. The jeweled object was found intact, and with its flashing rays and reflections almost dazzled the eye. All things considered, the cathedral of New York is becoming one of the most superbly appointed in the world. Its altars are a paragon of ceremonial pomp, and the decorations and appurtenances are beginning to rival the Old World's edifices. The new ostensorium is only an item in a long series of costly accessories.

OSTENSORIUM.

A Philanthropic Gambler King.

William J. Thompson has so long been known as the gaming duke of Gloucester that the news of his charitable deeds in New York would be received almost with incredulity. Yet he has given liberally to worthy objects in Gotham for some time past. When cases of destitution come under his notice he is ready at all times with money. He once met in Park row a starved old fellow, who had been kind to him in his own youth. He gave him a supply of cash, and procured him a situation. Thompson also likes to befriend young fellows who wish to educate themselves, and he has been very generous to unfortunates on the track. This man is certainly the queerest compound that ever lived—a sort of Mephistophelean philanthropist. His yearly income is very great, and the success with which he defies law and order and slips through legal meshes would make an eel envious.

Vaccination and Small-Pox.

From Harper's Weekly.

If the truth were known it would probably appear that vaccination has not accomplished all that Jenner hoped for it. Seeing his discovery so universally accepted at the outset, seeing it nip epidemics of small-pox in the bud, and so vastly reduce the mortality within a few years, he would have been strangely unimaginative had he not dreamed of a day when vaccination should so fully have triumphed as to have banished small-pox from the world forever. In theory such a hope found ample warrant. The human body furnishes the only soil, so far as known, on which the germs of this disease can multiply and retain their virulence. Vaccination renders the body no longer habitable for these germs. If therefore the entire race could be given immunity through vaccination, time being allowed for the destruction of such unproductive germs as had found temporary lodgment elsewhere than in the body, small-pox would cease to exist. Its last germ killed, there is no more reason to suppose that it would ever originate again, than there is to expect the reappearance of the great auk, the mammoth, or the glyptodon. In theory such an achievement might require but a month or a year, but in reality a century has not accomplished it.

The chief reason why vaccination has failed of this ultimate ideal achievement is—paradoxical though it sounds—because vaccination has operated so efficiently. So nearly has it banished small-pox that no one now fears that disease, and a general carelessness prevails regarding it. No better commentary in this regard could be made than mention of the fact that two physicians recently contracted the disease in New York from a case which came to a dispensary where they were in attendance. If physicians fail to give themselves immunity, what shall we expect of the public at large?

The other chief factor which cooperates with carelessness to keep small-pox in existence is ignorance. So little is small-pox heard of now that many among the more ignorant classes scarcely know the meaning of vaccination. Health officers find many persons who suppose they are being vaccinated to "cleanse the blood." It does not matter much what they think, perhaps, so long as they submit to the operation. But many decline the boon, and these of course remain susceptible to the disease. Our laws offer protection to all, but force it upon no one. Abroad, in many places vaccination is compulsory, a fine being imposed if any child is found unvaccinated at a certain age. The result thus aimed at is accomplished in this country in a more pleasant way by prohibiting unvaccinated children from attendance upon the public schools. This measure, together with the constant solicitations of health officers, results in the vaccination of a very large proportion of infants.

But vaccination in infancy is not enough. It gives immunity for a time, but with growth the tissues change, and after a few years the body becomes again susceptible. Revaccination must be practised when the child is six or seven years old, and again during adolescence. Even this third vaccination does not always give protection throughout life. Immunity should be tested every few years by repeated vaccinations, and only persons who have submitted to this test within a few years past can at any time feel fully assured that they are insusceptible to small-pox. Ignorance of this fact is most potent in giving small pox a hold upon the community. Not alone the ignorant, but many people of intelligence suppose that so long as the scar of a previous vaccination appears they are immune, and with confidence born of this delusional belief, go about the world almost as susceptible to small-pox as if they had never been vaccinated. For such persons chiefly the present words, with their obvious moral, are intended.

"I Owe my Life to You."

That is a strong statement.

Yet exactly what Miss Gertrude Sickler, of Wilton, N. J., has written to Mrs. Pinkham.

She says:—

"I suffered terribly with suppressed and painful menstruations. Doctors could only keep me from having fits each month by giving me morphine. This continued until I was completely prostrated.

"My father at last got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which at once gave me relief. It did what the doctors could not—cured me. I never have any trouble now, and have no dread of the coming month.

"I owe my life to you. Oh! if other suffering women would try your valuable medicine they would bless you as I do."

Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

Look at the size of the ordinary pill. Think of all the trouble and disturbance that it causes you. Wouldn't you welcome something easier to take, and easier in its ways, if at the same time it did you more good? That is the case with Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They're the smallest in size, the mildest in action, but the most thorough and far-reaching in results. They follow nature's methods, and they give help that lasts. Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, Sick and Bilious Headaches, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, are promptly relieved and permanently cured.

"If we can't cure your Catarrh, no matter how bad your case or of how long standing, we'll pay you $500 in cash." That is what is promised by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Doesn't it prove, better than any words could, that this is a remedy that cures Catarrh? Costs only 50 cents.

"Madame, I—I—must apologize. My—my seven children, and—it's hard times, you know—and"—

"Poor fellow! Here's a trifle for you. And now tell me how old are the poor little dears?"

"Thank ye, mum! Well, Bill he's 32, 'n Mary's 27 and married. The other five's dead mum. 'N Bill 'n Mary says I'm too lazy to live, mum; they're that ungrateful. Thank ye, again, mum."

Why People Long to Throw Themselves from High Places.

Chevreul's well known experiments with the exploratory pendulum and the divining rod show that if we represent to ourselves a motion in any direction the will unconsciously realizes it and communicates it to the pendulum. The tipping tables realize a movement we are anticipating through the intervention of a real movement of the hands, of which we are not conscious. Mind reading by those who divine by taking your hand where you have hidden any thing, is a reading of imperceptible motions by which your thoughts are translated without your being conscious of them. In cases of fascination and vertigo, which are more visible among children than among adults, a movement is begun the suspension of which is prevented by a paralysis of the will, and it carries us to suffering and death. When a child I was navigating a plank on the river, without a thought that I might fall. All at once the idea came like a diverging force projecting itself across the rectilinear thought, which had alone previously directed my action. It was as if an invisible arm seized me and drew me down. I cried out and continued staggering over the whirling waters till help came to me. The mere thought of vertigo provoked it. The board lying on the ground suggests no thought of fall when you walk over it, but when it is over a precipice and the eye takes the measure of the distance to the bottom, the representation of a falling motion becomes intense, and the impulse to fall correspondingly so. Even if you are safe there may still be what is called the attraction of the abyss. The vision of the gulf as a fixed idea, having produced an "inhibition" on all your ideas of forces, nothing is left but the figure of the great hole, with the intoxication of the rapid movement that begins in your mind and tends to turn the scales of the mental balance. Temptation, which is continued in children because everything is new to them, is nothing else than the force of an idea and the motive impulse that accompanies it.

Rheumatism and catarrh, caused by impoverished blood, cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Mrs. Farwest(at the World's Fair) "This is what you put on war vessels, is it?"

Attendant. "The very same. It's called Harveyized steel plate."

Mrs. Farwest. "It does look real strong. I believe if you'd make it thinner you might sell a good many yards of it for patchin' boys clothes."

Ask Your Friends

Who have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla what they think of it, and the replies will be positive in its favor. Simply what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that tells the story of its merit. One has been cured of indigestion or dyspepsia, another finds it indispensable for sick headache or biliousness, while others report remarkable cures of scrofula, catarrh, rheumatism, salt rheum, etc.

WOMEN IN LITERATURE.

Their Earlier Productions Had a Charm That Is Lacking Now.

There used to be in the literature produced by women a distinct quality of femininity. It is not so common as it once was, although names of living writers might be given whose work has it. But not to excite the animosity of any who would dislike to be accused of it we may safely go to a remote past for an example, and we certainly shall not give offense by recalling the letters of Madame de Sevigne. This delightful quality, which everybody recognizes, has a charm quite distinct from any grace of style as it is usually defined. It is as indefinable as the charm of a beautiful woman. The most that we can say of it is that it is a note of femininity. No man, whatever his esprit, or his delicacy, or his lightness of touch, has ever had it, not even the most effeminate among men writers. It is a most desirable and valuable quality, and the one quality that women can and men can not contribute to literature. In these days most women consider it a compliment if their anonymous writings are taken to be the productions of men. And men—they are still so ungallant—would be annoyed if the careless judgment be passed upon their work, "Sounds as if it were written by a woman." It is understandable why women wish to be thought to write like men, on the theory that literature, like other art, is sexless, and that there is only one standard of excellence. But it is not understandable why women, enfranchised and come as an equal into the kingdom of letters, should wish to drop a quality so fascinating and so full of potency and charm as that we are speaking of. Practically, in her competition with men, she has dropped it. We encounter it less and less. And it is a grave question whether the re-enforcement of literature by an increasing number of women who write so that their productions can not be distinguished from those of men is a compensation for the loss of this lovely quality of femininity. Is it necessary that women in gaining knowledge and skill should sacrifice this most exquisite expression of woman as woman, that is, the expression of a charm which is one of the few notes of reminiscence of our fallen estate? It is not ineffeminacy in the common meaning, it is not lack of virility; but it is the counterpart of that quality which is etymologically strictly derived from the word vir. It is for women to say whether literature is to lose this quality.—Charles Dudley Warner, in Harper's Magazine.

HORTICULTURE FOR PROFIT.

Statistics Prove That Women Have Made It a Success.

Some of the statistics compiled for the World's fair have been looked up. They show that there are 303 women farmers in the state of Massachusetts, one fruit grower and two who are following the profession of florist. In the south, more especially, horticulture is carried on successfully and very extensively by women. In this field there are possibilities for great success, as has been demonstrated by facts from all parts of the world. Paris during the winter season spends $200,000 on lilies of the valley.

One of the most noted floral displays in our own city is under the management and supervision of a woman, for Mrs. "Jack" Gardner's greenhouses are among the city's noted points of interest. Her beautiful residence in Brookline is embowered with vines, and the beautifully kept grounds and conservatories are famous for their magnificent rhododendrons, azaleas and other shrubs and beautiful plants. In the greenhouses are nearly 400 varieties of orchids, and here are grown the beautiful violets so closely associated with Mrs. Gardner. One of the most interesting and attractive displays in the grounds is the Japanese iris, sent from Japan by Mrs. Gardner when she visited that country. We fondly claim an iris in this country, but it must hide its diminished head beside these wonderful flowers. True, the family resemblance is easily traced, but in the likeness there is such unlikeness that it seems a wholly different flower. The blossoms are fully six inches in diameter, with many more leaves than in the common, and showing a wide variety of the loveliest tints. The plant is treated in the Japanese fashion, with pipes edging the bed, so perforated that an even shower falls on all alike, so that the requisite moisture is assured at all times.

One of the greenhouses contains tanks in which the African lotus grows as luxuriantly as in its native waters. The grapes for the table are raised on the grounds.

A lady living near New York city has paid the rent of an expensive place by good management of greenhouses.—Boston Transcript.

May Practice Law in Indiana.

The Indiana supreme court has decided that women may be admitted to the practice of law in that state. The constitution reads: "Every person of good moral character being a voter shall be entitled to practice law in all courts of justice." The lower court, when the matter was brought before them, decided that as women are not voters they must be ruled out. The higher court, however, argued that, while the constitution says voters shall be admitted, it does not say that others, including women, shall not be.

Her Reward.

At Copenhagen a young woman who seized a thief and held him until the police came, was presented with a diamond brooch and a flattering letter of thanks from the director of police, and received an offer of marriage from a well-known journalist. Women thief-catchers are so numerous in this country that it has been suggested that it would bankrupt the police department to attempt to reward them all, not to mention exhausting the supply of marriageable journalists.—N. Y. Sun.

THE IDEAL WOMAN.

Prominent Men Give Their Ideas of What She Should Be.

A number of prominent men have given their idea of the ideal woman in the Union Signal. Two from Hartford, Ct., are particularly interesting. Dr. Crothers says:

The ideal woman is the one who, from conditions unknown, has caught the spirit of the ages and joined its great evolutionary march. . . . She is the woman who never stops growing, mentally, morally and physically, and who is always above the low levels of the present, and always struggling to higher conceptions and higher activities, and who makes the present stepping-stones for the future.

John Hooker, husband of Isabella Beecher Hooker, says:

No man ever grew up with more reverence for a fine woman than I. I have never lost that reverence; but my idea of what constitutes a fine woman has materially changed. I used to think her essential qualities in youth were sweetness, delicacy and modesty, and in after life, a home-loving wifeliness, and Madonna-like motherliness. Fifty years of observation and reflection have taught me that a woman grows nobler and truer to herself and all her obligations who, still faithful and loving in her home relations (for her heart will always be there), is yet full of intelligence in all matters that are interesting the public, full of sense of the value of her sex in its relation to social progress, full of an appreciation of her rights as a human being, inspirable by inspiring thoughts and influences, and a power for good in the community in which she lives, and perhaps in that larger community that makes up the nation to which she belongs. She is to me the noblest woman who, without mere personal ambition or self-seeking of any sort, and with a great spirit of helpfulness toward all the wronged and suffering, limits the field of her work only by her ability and opportunity, making these, and not any conventional rules, the test of what God meant that she should do. That a woman may be all this, and yet not lose a particle of her wifeliness or motherliness, or of her sweetness and delicacy, is a matter of absolute knowledge with the writer.

INTERESTING PARAGRAPHS.

Miss Blanche A. Wright, of Lewiston, Me., has been ordained pastor of the Newport (N. Y.) Universal church.

Mrs. M. T. VanRensselaer, of New York, distinguished a as writer upon agricultural subjects, is a tall, slender blonde, with a bright face and engaging manners.

Miss Lynde Craig, for ten years a teacher in the Girls' High school of San Francisco, has been admitted to practice before the supreme court of California.

An English woman living near Oxford has a large lake in the grounds of her residence, and, as she is an expert swimmer, she practices every day. At the end of the season she gives a series of competitions lasting a week.

Mrs. Harriet Ruth Tracy's inventions in the liberal arts building at the World's fair include a fire escape, models of a safety passenger elevator with automatic platforms, and a rotary shuttle for the lock and chain stitch.

Miss Kitty C. Wilkins, Idaho's horse queen, has a range containing 3,000 horses of high grade, broncbos being carefully excluded. Miss Wilkins, who is about 30 years old, does the buying and selling, while her father and brothers do the harder, practical work about the place.

The only women lawyers invited to read papers at the Law Reform congress held in Chicago in August were Dr. Emily Kempin, of Zurich, Switzerland, and Miss Mary A. Greene, of Providence, R. I. The women lawyers of all English speaking countries are represented by Miss Greene.

Mrs. Frances R. Lybrand, of Ohio, has been on the examiners' corps in the civil engineering department of the patent office at Washington for about ten years. Railways are her specialty, and she has the annual task of passing upon about 8,000 inventions, of which a dozen may perhaps be practicable.

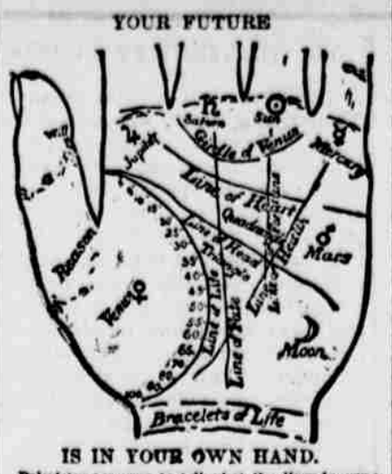
Mrs. Henry G. Newton, of New Haven, is the first woman in Connecticut to register for voting at the coming school election. The last legislature passed a law giving to women the right of ballot in school elections. Mrs. Newton is the wife of a lawyer in New Haven, and is herself a practical physician.

Miss Mina R. Hobbs bears the honor of being the first woman delegate to a political state convention in Maryland, having served in that capacity at the prohibition convention last Wednesday. She is past grand vice templar of the Good Templars of Maryland, and, having a good soprano voice, has been very popular as singer at temperance meetings in that state.

Miss Irene W. Coit, the brilliant young woman of Norwich, Ct., who successfully passed the classical examinations at Yale last summer, but was forbidden the privilege of entering the university because of her sex, has accepted a place as teacher in the girls' seminary at Geneva, N. Y. Miss Coit is a daughter of Gen. James B. Coit, who was wounded at Gettysburg. During the last year she has studied in the normal department of the Norwich academy, and graduates with her class this month.

It being statutory that the garb of Dr. Mary Walker shall be described whenever that bizarre but worthy woman collides with a reporter, Dr. Mary took occasion to remark to one of the guild in Boston who asked if she ever wore a sack coat: "I did at one time, but I've worn a Prince Albert for a good many years, except that I wear a sack for an overcoat. But don't you think it's about time that the newspapers let up on talking about my clothes? They always have to say the same things right over and over again. Just think how many thousand times they have said, 'She had a Prince Albert, etc.'" The interviewer changed the subject.

YOUR FUTURE



IS IN YOUR OWN HAND.

Palmistry assumes to tell what the lines in your hand indicate. It will amuse you, if nothing more. The above diagram almost explains itself. The length of the LINE OF LIFE indicates probable age to which you will live. Each BRACELET gives you thirty years. Well-marked LINE OF HEAD denotes brain power; clear LINE OF FORTUNE, fame or riches. Both combined mean success in life; but you must keep up with modern ideas to win it. You will find plenty of these in Demorest's Family Magazine, so attractively presented that every member of the family is entertained. It is a dozen magazines in one. A CLEAR LINE OF HEART bespeaks tenderness; a straight LINE OF FATE, peaceful life; the reverse if crooked. A well-defined LINE OF HEALTH spares you doctors' bills; so will the health hints in Demorest's. No other magazine publishes so many stories to interest the home circle. You will be subject to extremes of high spirits or despondency if you have the GIRDLE OF VENUS well marked; keep up your spirits by having Demorest's Magazine to read. By subscribing to it for 1894 you will receive a gallery of exquisite works of art of great value, besides the superb premium picture, 17x22 inches, "I'm a Daisy!" which is almost a real baby, and equal to the original oil painting which cost $300; and you will have a magazine that cannot be equaled by any in the world for its beautiful illustrations and subject matter, that will keep you posted on all the topics of the day, and all the fads, and different items of interest about the household, besides furnishing interesting reading matter, both grave and gay, for the whole family; and while Demorest's is not a fashion magazine, its fashion pages are perfect, and you get with it, free of cost, all the patterns you wish to use during the year, and in any size you choose. Send in your subscription at once, only $2.00, and you will really get over $25.00 in value. Address the publisher, W. Jennings Demorest, 15 East 14th St., New York. If you are unacquainted with the Magazine, send for a specimen copy. A large QUADRANGLE means honesty; a large TRIANGLE, generosity; long FIRST DIVISION OF THUMB, strong will; LONG SECOND DIVISION, reasoning faculty. The MOUNT OF JUPITER betokens ambition; that of SATURN, prudence; the SUN, love of splendor; MARS, courage; MOON, imagination; VENUS, love of pleasure; and MERCURY, intelligence. Take our advice as above and you will be sure to possess the last and most valuable quality.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

The President has issued the following Thanksgiving Day proclamation :—

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.—A PROCLAMATION.

"While the American people should every day remember with praise and thanksgiving the Divine goodness and mercy which have followed them since their beginning as a nation, it is fitting that one day in each year should be especially devoted to the contemplation of the blessing we have received from the hand of God, and to the grateful acknowledgement of His loving kindness.

"Therefore, I, Grover Cleveland, President os the United States, do hereby designate and set apart Thursday, the 30th day of the present month of November, as a day of thanksgiving and praise to be kept and observed by all the people of our land. On that day let us forego our ordinary work and employments, and assemble in our usual places of worship, where we may recall all that God has done for us, and where from grateful hearts our united tribute of praise and song may reach the Throne of Grace. Let the reunion of kindred and the social meeting of friends lend cheer and enjoyment to the day, and let generous gifts of charity for the relief of the poor and needy prove the sincerity of our thanksgiving.

"Witness my hand and seal of the United States, which I have caused to be hereto affixed.

"Done at the city of Washington on the 3rd day of November, in the year of our Lord Eighteen Hundred and Ninety three, and of the Independence of the United States the one hundredth and eighteenth.

"GROVER CLEVELAND.

"By the President :
"WALTER Q. GRESHAM,
"Secretary of State."

Married.

On Saturday, October 28th, at the office of W. B. Snyder, Justice of the Peace, in Locust township, Mr. Lewis H. Murray and Miss Malinda E. Hossler, both of Catawissa township.

IT'S A QUEER WOMAN —who cannot understand the benefit to be derived from the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Did you ever see a sickly woman with bright eyes, clear skin, and rosy cheeks? Or a healthy one without them? A woman can live in full health, do more work, have more pleasure, amount to more, by taking the "Prescription." When the bodily functions are not regular the woman is delicate.

As a support for nervous, exhausted, overworked, women, it's an invigorating tonic, a soothing and strengthening nervine; besides, it lessens pain. It's the only remedy for woman's chronic weaknesses and irregularites that's guaranteed to benefit or cure, or the money paid for it refunded.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

The quality and variety of entertainment and instruction to be given at the county institute next week has never been excelled at an institute in this county.

The advice and encouragement of the teachers of the county and of the people of Bloomsburg warranted the engaging of none but the very best available talent, and only such talent has been secured

Prof. John B. Demotte on Monday evening will give his grand and wonderfully illustrated lecture—"The Harp of the Senses, or the Secret of Character Building."

DeMotte comes recommended by eminent persons in all parts of the country. President Hodges of Marshall College and State Normal School of Huntington, West Virginia says :

"Dr. DeMotte's lecture on "The Harp of the Senses or the Secret of Character Building" is simply great. Nothing else equal to it has ever been given here, Every parent and teacher should hear it."

Dr. DeMotte has expended over $4,000 for illustrations used in one lecture.

This opening lecture of the institute—Monday evening, November 13th, will be the greatest of the season.

Tuesday evening Levin Irvin Handy will give his eloquent lecture on "Patrick Henry, Orator and Statesman." Mr. Handy is an orator and comes recommended by ex-State Supt. D J. Waller in the following words :

"The lecture Patrick Henry, was one of the most delightfully entertaining to which I have ever listened, and it was full of information."

The present State Supt. of Public Instruction, Dr. W. C. Schaeffer also recommends Dr. Handy's lecture in these words: "L. I. Handy's 'Patrick Henry' is a gem of a lecture."

Wednesday evening Col. Geo. W. Bain will give one of his famous lectures. The Colonel is known here and comes with the kindest and best words from Russell Conwell, Bishop Vincent, Miss Francis Willard, and hundreds of others.

Thursday evening Miss Ollie Torbett and her company will give the musical treat of the season.

This company has never appeared before a Bloomsburg audience. It comes recommended by a prominent county Supt. of Pennsylvania as follows :

"The Ollie Torbett Concert Company is one of the finest and best music organizations available. Ollie Torbett will give your teachers and the citizens of your county one of the best musical treats they have ever had the privilege of enjoying.

Reserved seats for the course $1.50.

The public can purchase and reserve seats at Dentler's any time.

Undisputed Merit.

The great success of the Royal Baking Powder is due to the extreme care exercised by its manufactures to make it entirely pure, uniform in quality, and of the highest in leavening power. All the scientific knowledge, care and skill attained by a twenty years' practical experience are contributed toward this end, and no pharmaceutical preparation can be dispensed with a greater accuracy, precision and exactness. Every article used is absolutely pure. A number of chemists are employed to test the strength of each ingredient, so that its exact power and effect in combination with its co-ingredients is definitely known. Nothing is trusted to chance, and no person is employed in the preparation of the materials used or the manufacture of the power, who is not an expert in his particular branch of the business. As a consequence, the Royal Baking Powder is of the highest grade of excellence always pure, wholesome and uniform in quality. Each box is exactly like every other, and will retain its powers and produce the same and the highest leavening effect in any climate, at any time. The Government Chemists after having analyzed all the principal brands in the market, in their reports placed the Royal Baking Powder at the head of the list for strength, purity and wholesomeness, and thousands of tests all over the country have further demonstrated the fact that its qualities are in every respect, unrivaled.

The following letters are held at the Bloomsburg, Pa., post office and will be sent to the dead letter office Nov. 21, 1893.

Mr. John F. Bender, Mrs. J. Hannas, Mrs. Lizzie Little, Miss Laura Mapler, Mr. Hermann Meyer, Mrs. Margaret Stone, Mr. Cal Wintersteen.

Persons calling for these letters will please say they were advertised Nov. 7, 1893. One cent will be charged on each letter advertised.

PRIZE PUZZLES.

A series of prize puzzles will be published simultaneously in THE COLUMBIAN and Harper's Young People, the first one appearing this week, the second on November 24, and the third on January 5. They offer our boys and girls a chance to exercise their brains, and to earn a prize. Try them.

A Little Daughter

Of a Church of England minister cured of a distressing rash, by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Mr. RICHARD BIRKS, the well-known Druggist, 207 McGill st., Montreal, P. Q., says:

I have sold Ayer's Family Medicines for 40 years, and have heard nothing but good said of them. I know of many

Wonderful Cures

performed by Ayer's Sarsaparilla, one in particular being that of a little daughter of a Church of England minister. The child was literally covered from head to foot with a red and exceedingly troublesome rash, from which she had suffered for two or three years, in spite of the best medical treatment available. Her father was in great distress about the case, and, at my recommendation, at last began to administer Ayer's Sarsaparilla, two bottles of which effected a complete cure, much to her relief and her father's delight. I am sure, were he here to-day, he would testify in the strongest terms as to the merits of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

THE NAME SHOULD REMAIN.

TO THE COLUMBIAN:

SIR :—You are right. The end of the Irondale furnaces has come—but not the end of "Irondale." The name is welded to the locality, and no matter to what uses the beautiful place and valuable plant may be put, it will still be IRONDALE to all our people.

Of the 5000 or 6000 people in Bloomsburg to day, very few were here when the furnaces now being demolished, were erected. According to Freeze's "History of Columbia County," they were built in 1844, the company having been incorporated in 1839.

Certainly the plant and real estate of "Irondale" is the cheapest property which has been sold in Bloomsburg for a quarter of a century. Stone, brick, fire brick, sand, timber, and water power and railroad, and public road are all there to the hand of the builder. Its possibilities are infinite.

Besides the usual amount of general and local news, it will contain a full page of special Thanksgiving matter copiously illustrated; a full page story; a coupon which will entitle the holder to a beautiful oil panel-picture, "An American Beauty"; a department for women, and for girls and boys; agricultural, humorous, and miscellaneous reading. The subscription price is only $1.00 a year, and those desiring to obtain this beautiful picture should subscribe at once. Single copies will be sent postpaid to any address in the county for 5 cents. Postage stamps will be received. Order now. 11-10 3t.

Cream—not Skim Milk.

Every farmer and villager, their wives and boys and girls, will be interested in the big-little, cream-not-skim-milk paper, the FARM JOURNAL, of Philadelphia. Its 200,000 subscribers are scattered from Maine to Washington, and from Michigan to Texas. It's breezy, crisp, boiled-down pages contain as much information in the course of the year as many of the high-priced weeklies; while its earnest, manly tone and its bright and common sense way of treating farm matters leaves a good and lasting taste in one's mouth. The subscription price is 50 cents a year. We have made arrangements with the publisher by which he will send it one full year free, to all who promptly pay up for our paper. Sample copies will be sent free by addressing a postal request to FARM JOURNAL, Philadelphia, Pa. 10-6-2-m.

WATCH AND CHAIN LOST.

During the excitement at the fire in her house recently a gold watch and chain belonging to Mrs. Ella Kline was lost. It was a Christmas gift from her deceased husband, and therefore it was much more valuable to her than to anybody else. The finder will be suitably rewarded by returning it to Mrs. Kline at her residence on Rock street, third house below Market.

"A chemical success and medical triumph," so speaks an eminent physician in reference to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral; and the eulogy was none too strong. No other medicine is so safe and efficacious in all diseases of the throat and lungs.

Five Dollars.

FREE TO ALL READERS OF THIS PAPER.

On November 30th we shall print a coupon entitling all who receive the issue of that date to a superb work of art, just published, entitled, "An American Beauty," a splendidly perfect reproduction in oils of a new floral painting, 20 inches high, suitable for narrow upright spaces, by the artist of the famous "Yard of Roses" and Yard of Pansies." We have made arrangemens that will enable us to present this exquisite picture to all our readers' free, and all should avail themselves of our generous offer.

DR. KILMER'S

SWAMP-ROOT

CURED ME.

SUFFERED EIGHT YEARS!

Couldn't Eat or Sleep

Dr. Kilmer & Co:—"I had been troubled for eight years with stomach and heart difficulties.

I lived mostly on milk, as every-thing I ate hurt me so. My kidneys and liver were in a terrible state. Could neither sleep or eat. I had been treated by the best Chicago doctors without any benefit whatever. As a last resort I tried your SWAMP-ROOT, and now I can eat anything, no matter what, and can go to bed and get a good night's sleep. SWAMP-ROOT cured me.

Nothing hurts me,

Any one doubting this statement can write, I will gladly answer." Mrs. German Miller, Dec. 20th, 1892. Springport, Mich.

SWAMP-ROOT CURED ME.

Had Torpid Liver For 14 Years.

Bilious all the Time.

DEAR SIRS:—"I have been troubled with Torpid Liver for 14 years and gone through courses of bilious fever; many times it has been impossible for me to do any kind of labor. Dr. Kilmer's SWAMP-ROOT was first recommended to me by Holthouse, Blackburn & Co., (Druggists) Decatur, Ind. After taking one bottle I was uncertain whether I was really deriving any benefit or not; after taking the second bottle, however, I found that my health was improving and I continued until I had taken 6 bottles. I can now cheerfully recommend SWAMP-ROOT to every one who has torpid liver, for it has completely cured me."
